

Irving Bruce Rivas, affectionately referred to in the Key West community as "Uncle Sonny." His tremendous generosity and readiness to offer anyone the clothes of his back, he is considered a philanthropist. Everyone knew they could call Sonny if they needed anything since he always kept his doors open. Contributing to the community wasn't Sonny's sole source of motivation. He fought in Vietnam while serving in the US Army. Sonny had a wonderful life, and the Key West community will always remember his commitment to helping. His influence will endure indefinitely.

Thank you,

Rivas Family
