The final design for the electrical distribution consisted of (2) two each 1.5 Megawatt Caterpillar Generators with 13.8 KV output to keep the wire sizes as small as possible and to keep the cost down and within the projects budget. The new system also included new 750KVA pad mount transformers on platforms above flood plain, multiple 6-way medium voltage cable junction enclosures, main utility re-closers, multiple 15KV pad mount one way switches, overhead termination, complete automatic control system to provide power to all four buildings in case of normal power failure. The electrical distribution had sections overhead, underground, and inside the buildings. PFEC also had to design and install the concrete structure and enclosure for the generators, 12,000 gallon fuel tanks, transformer, controls, etc. The completed system gave JIATF South enough power for all building HVAC, lighting, UPS for a seamless transition between normal and generator power without compromising mission capability.
