Question #1:

I have lived in Key West since 1981 and since that time served on many civic committees that have accomplished various tasks for local government and the community in general. I believe this committee experience provides valuable insight in working with others to accomplish a particular task or mission. Some of the committees and boards I have served over the past 29 years include:

- Key West City Commission
- Key West Planning Board, Chairman
- Citizen Advisory Task Force, Chairman
- Key West Business Guild, Board of Directors
- Monroe County Tourist Development Council
- Monroe County Sesiquentennial Commission
- AIDS Help, Inc. Fundraising Committee
- AIDS Help, Inc., Board of Directors
- Florida League of Cities, Quality Cities Committee
- Florida League of Cities, Education Committee
- U.S. Battleship Maine Centennial Commission, Chairman
- State of Florida, Division of Historical Resources, Museum Grant Committee, Chairman
- Southernmost Homeless Assistance League, Inc.

I am a Vietnam Era Veteran having served in the U.S. Army Signal Corps specializing in microwave communication. I believe this experience taught me discipline, how to focus on a particular mission, and to work under adverse conditions to accomplish a mission in close co-operation with others.

During my tenure as chairman of the Key West Citizen Advisory Task Force for six (6) years I worked closely with various law enforcement agencies to combat drug trafficking within the city of Key West. During those six years I worked closely with the Key West Police Department, the Monroe County Sheriff's Office, the DEA, the local FBI station, and with the military police stationed in the area.

While a city commissioner I rode many times with police patrols and met with the police chief for a scheduled weekly meeting to discuss issues relating to community policing, police policy, drugs, and crime within the community.

Question #2:

I wish to serve on the Civilian Review Board for several reasons. First, I wish to continue serving the city and citizens of Key West who have been the mainstay of my life for the past 29 years.

Second, I feel that the Citizen Review Board (CRB) is of immense importance to the community. Our island paradise that attracts people from all over the world depends on a safe, secure, and welcoming environment in which law enforcement plays a critical role. Key West is also a functioning local community with families, schools, churches, and businesses that need a police department that can serve to meet their needs relative to safety and security. At the same time, the police department and the men and women who serve, need cooperation and respect of the citizenry from the city commission down to the people who live and visit Key West. I truly believe that the CRB can work as a force to develop and maintain cooperation among all residents and visitors to our city and the Key West Police Department- the CRB model works for all involved.

Third, I feel I understand the pressure and unusual environment facing the men and women of the Key West Police Department. I am familiar with their budget and the mission they strive to accomplish while serving and protecting various sections and populations of the community. This is a city that never sleeps, that keeps our police officers moving steadily night and day, often in bizarre and unusual circumstances. I have seen the issues our officers face on the streets and I believe I have an understanding of what it takes to be a good police officer in this city.
