Policy 1-1.16.3: Permit Allocation System Ratios by Structure Type. The permit allocation system shall be sensitive to differing trip generating characteristics of permanent and transient residential units as well as single-family units, accessory apartment units and multi-family residential units. The annual allocation shall be ninety-one units (91) single-family units based on the Transportation Interface for Modeling Evacuations (TIME) Model. The permit allocation system shall incorporate a series of equivalent single-family unit (ESFU) values in applying the annual permit allocation threshold established in the building permit allocation ordinance as hereinafter explained.

Table 1-1.16.3

Residential Structure Type	Equivalent Single-Family Unit Value (ESFU)

Unique Characteristics

- This is a request to reinstate transient BTRs, this is not a request for new transient ROGO units or new transient BTRs - the property was recognized with 3 transient units on the effective date of ROGO and had duly issued transient BTRs.
- The real property has been continuously owned by the Herrera family since prior to the effective date of ROGO.
- No additional ROGO has been assigned to the property converting the units from transient (0.86 ESFU) to non-transient (1.0 ESFU) for hurricane evacuation system.
- The family was advised by the city to convert the transient rental BTRs to non-transient to stop code enforcement action related to life-safety requirements.
- The family was never advised, nor was there any indication, that the transient rental BTRs would not be reinstated if it was changed to non-transient.
- The family was never advised that the transient rental BTRs could have been held in "Unassigned" or "No Use Permitted" status for reinstatement in the future.
- The family never agreed, nor intended, to permanently "relinquish" their transient rental rights on the property, as asserted in the former city planner's denial.
- No Special Treatment - no request for relief from any regulatory provision of code

12/27/2001 12:00:00 AM

RMRK: REC'D LETTER REQUESTING TO CHANGE TO NON-TRANSIENT, CHANGED.

The remark indicates the property owner requested the change to non-transient status through his daughter and this request was received in writing via facsimile. A copy of the original document was not provided by the current property owner, your office, nor could the City of Key West locate a hard copy of the original request.

City Planner's Denial

In conclusion, Ana H. Jacobo has solely owned the subject property since July 15, 2005 and has knowingly and continuously renewed the non-transient business tax receipts on an annual basis since that time.

Further, the transient licenses were voluntarily relinquished to the City on December 27, 2001. Therefore, we cannot grant your request for reinstatement.
