Re: Flood Ordinance, Second Reading, Minor Changes

In reviewing the ordinance passed at first reading by the City Commission on February 20, State floodplain management staff realized the statewide model flood ordinance has undergone several minor changes since they last reviewed and approved the draft of our pending ordinance.

Although these changes are not substantial, nor do they change the meaning nor intent of the ordinance or add any new requirements, FEMA and State floodplain staff have agreed these changes are required, mostly for purposes of clarification and accurate reference citations.

Attached, is the text of the draft ordinance passed during first reading, with the FEMA recommended changes highlighted in yellow, strikeouts identifying text to be deleted and underlines showing new text.
