Staff Report for Item 11

To: Chairman Haven Burkee and Historic Architectural Review
Commission Members

From: Enid Torregrosa-Silva, MSHP
Historic Preservation Planner

Meeting Date: January 24, 2023

Applicant: Catherine Felton, Designer

Application Number: H2022-0058

Address: 1004 Seminary Street

Description of Work

Elevation, relocation, roof elevation, and renovations to existing house. New addition to rear and west side of the house.

Site Facts

The building under review is a contributing resource to the historic district. The one-story frame vernacular house was built in 1901. Additions to the southwest front side and a rear porch attached to the house are not original to the house. Two non-historic sheds are located on the west side of the lot and attached to the house. The house has board and batten wood siding.

Guidelines, Secretary of the Interior's Standards for Rehabilitation, and Ordinances Cited on Review

- SOIS (pages 16-23), specifically Standards 1, 2, 9 and 10.
- Foundations (page 34), specifically first paragraph, and guidelines 1 and 4.
- Guidelines for Additions (pages 37a-37k), specifically guidelines 1, 5, 6, 11, 12, 13, 14, 19, 20, 21 (first sentence), 22, 23, and 26.
- New construction (pages 38a-38q), specifically guidelines 1, 2, 9, 12, 13, 14, 18, 22, and 23.
- Chapter 102- Section 252- Requirements precedent to relocation.

Staff Analysis

A Certificate of Appropriateness is under review for a new one-story side and rear addition. The plan also includes the relocation of the house towards the front yard and new foundations that will be approximately 18" higher than the existing ones. In addition, the plan includes the extension of exterior walls 2'-3" to raise the roof.

The new addition will extend towards the north, west, and south. A new covered porch with an entry will be the façade of the addition facing Seminary Street. The side addition will have a side gable roof, while the rear addition will be covered with a front gable roof, lower than the principal existing roof. Materials for the new addition includes wood board and batten for exterior siding, single hung impact rated aluminum windows, and metal shingles will be used to finish the roof. The existing front and east side of the house will not be changed, except for the elevation of the roof, which will change the proportions of the existing historic house.

The proposed plans include the relocation of the house towards the east and north to the minimum required setbacks, to create more room for the new proposed additions. New brick pavers will be used for a sidewalk to the new entryway porch. Existing front gingerbread railings and brackets will remain.

Consistency with Guidelines Cited Guidelines

It is staff's opinion that the proposed design is inconsistent with many of the cited guidelines and the SOIS. Adding height to exterior walls changes completely the proportions and therefore the character of the historic house. The SOIS clearly states that changes to the defining characteristics of the building shall be minimal, and staff opines that the building form and proportions are essential features to the house. Moreover guideline 20 for additions and alterations states that expanding the existing building form and massing on a contributing building in order to add height to exterior walls and raising the roof is not an appropriate design solution. The first sentence of guideline 21 of additions and alterations establishes that proposed additions that alter the existing proportions and rhythm of a contributing building are prohibited. In this case the new proportions create a different building of what the building looks like. This drastic and inappropriate change in proportions has also a negative impact in the proposed side addition as its scale and mass will overshadow the existing one-story building; this is evident when comparing existing versus proposed front elevations. Staff advised the applicant about the existing regulations for additions.

Staff finds the proposed relocation and new foundations 18” higher than the existing ones are consistent with cited guidelines.
